Motorcycle Crash Kills Woman

RESTAURANT WORKER DIES IN SMASHUP

Vernon Heights Blvd. Mishap Fatal to Miss Marjorie Crider; Driver Hurt.

Miss Marjorie Crider, 21, a native of Jersey Layne in Floyd county, but a Marion restaurant worker for the last four months, was killed instantly and Ernest Dearth, 20, of 551 East Farmer street was injured slightly in a motorcycle accident on Vernon Heights boulevard at 12:15 a. m. today.

According to a report to Sheriff W. J. Harruff, the motorcycle driven by Dearth crashed into the curbing of the west lane of the boulevard at a point immediately south of the home of Mrs. C. H. Hale. The vehicle followed the curbing for nearly 100 feet before striking another curbing at an intersection in the boulevard.

Rolls 200 Feet

From marks on the roadway and the curb, authorities judged that the cycle rolled over as it struck the curbing. The machine continued to roll nearly 200 feet from the lawn area separating the two lanes of the boulevard.

A few minutes after the accident an unidentified motorist discovered the mishap and asssisted Dearth in getting Miss Crider into his car. He drove to City hospital where she was pronounced dead upon arrival.

A Marion physician said she suffered a broken neck, fractured arm and severe face and body bruises.

Dr. R. T. Morgan, acting Marion county coroner who was summoned to investigate the accident, returned a verdict of accidental death.

After receiving first aid treatment, Dearth was released from the hospital.

Lost Control of Cycle

Dearth told city and county authorities he was going about 40 miles an hour when he lost control of the cycle in making a turn in the boulevard.

Investigating the crash were Sheriff W. J. Harruff, Deputy Ross McGinnis, Police Capt. Ora DeWees and Patrolman Marion Tatham.

Marion friends of the victim said today that she came here about four months ago from her home in southeastern Kentucky to visit a home-town girl friend, Miss Opal Carter of Blaine avenue. After obtaining a job as a waitress at the Spot restaurant on West Center street shortly after her arrival here, she decided to remain in Marion for the time being.

In recent weeks she had been living in a rooming house at 132 Canby court.

The body was taken to the M. H. Gunder & Sons funeral home on West Center street to await word from the girl's parents. Efforts to locate her family in Kentucky were still being made at noon today by sheriff's deputies who established contact with the Floyd county, Ky., sheriff.

EX-KIWANIS HEAD KILLED

Intruder Shoots Banker; Son-in-Law Wounded in Battle with Police.

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA, Sept. 29—Henry C. Heinz, 63, Atlanta banker and past president of Kiwanis international, was shot to death by a masked prowler at his home last night, and his son-in-law, Dr. Bryant K. Vann, 40, rushing to the Heinz home in answer to a call for help, was seriously wounded in a gun battle with police when each apparently mistook the other for the slayer.

Police Capt. L. J. Carroll said Radio Patrolmen W. M. Miller and M. W. Blackwell reported they answered the alarm shortly after Heinz, vice president of the Citizens and Southern National bank, was slain.

Blackwell went to the rear of the house and Miller entered the front. The former said a man began firing at him from a woods back of the house and he returned the fire. Miller, hearing the shots, raced outside and joined his partner. In the exchange of shots, Dr. Vann, a dentist, was wounded, the officers said.

Mrs. Heinz, daughter of the late Asa Candler Sr., Atlanta capitalist, told police, they said, she was preparing to retire when she heard scuffling in the sun parlor of her home. She said she found her husband grappling with a masked man, apparently a Negro, and ran to get a pistol. While she was gone, she related, she heard two shots. Returning, she said she found Heinz on the floor, a bullet through his heart. The intruder had disappeared.

Coroner Gives Verdict in Mrs. Eli Long Death

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 29—A verdict of "cause unknown" was returned by Coroner Edward E. Smith in the death of Mrs. Eli Long, 32-year-old Delaware county horsewoman, who fell from a sixth floor hotel room here Aug. 25. The coroner said Mrs. Long's husband testified his wife's fall climaxed an argument over her taking sleeping tablets.

LOSING FIGHT ON DAD DRAFT

Wheeler Opens Battle; Congress Looks to U. S. Payrolls for Service Eligibles.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29—Unwilling to block the draft of fathers for military service, congress nevertheless showed increasing interest in holding the impact on families to a minimum.

General induction of fathers starts Friday.

In the senate, there were growing demands for selective service officials to reexamine the federal payroll. Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) charged that the administration had failed to drive "draft dodgers" from the government payrolls. Senator Bailey (D-NC) said "the people feel that government payrolls include a great many young men who ought to be at the battlefront."

Wheeler Losing Fight

When Wheeler opened his now losing fight to postpone induction of family heads, he contended there were 300,000 men in government service eligible for the uniform.

The house, meantime, took up the question of improving the financial lot of those fathers who are drafted. Chairman May (D-Ky) called hearings on legislation to boost the family allowances of men with dependent wives and children. Committee members said they expected the Army to indorse the principle of higher allotments.

Another storm over government subsidies to producers, in order to cut retail food prices, appeared to be brewing in the house. The banking committee called on officials to specify the powers of the Commodity Credit Corp. before legislation is passed continuing this agency.

Marshall Discussion

The lively discussion over reports that Gen. George C. Marshall, U. S. chief of staff, would be placed in command of all Anglo-American forces in the field, was given fresh impetus by President Roosevelt himself. The executive made no effort to deny the story at his press conference, observing that there had been some leaks in prominent places but that a proposed transfer of any kind should be announced only when the time is ripe.

STATUS OF ITALY DEPENDS ON AID

By EDWARD KENNEDY
AP War Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN ITALY, Sept. 26—(Delayed)—Despite the Badoglio government's obvious desire for recognition as a full-fledged British-American ally, it now seems possible that Italy may be accorded the status of a co-belligerent and that any concessions she may receive will be measured by the aid she delivers.

There have been indications during the past week that Premier Badoglio has been on the verge of declaring war upon Germany in an effort to line Italy up with the allies.

This would be purely an independent action, however, and it is expected that Italy's new war role and her relations with the United Nations will be fixed shortly through negotiation.

Many difficulties lie in the way of granting Italy anything even approaching United Nations status. One is the reluctance of the troops who have been fighting the Italians to accept them as allies—a feeling doubtless shared by a large part of the public in the United States and Britain.

The attitude of Washington and London, on the other hand, seems to be that since the Italians apparently wish sincerely to help in the fight against Germany it is only common sense to make use of them.

JAP BASE AT WEWAK TAKES HEAVY BLOW

By The Associated Press

Wewak, the next important Japanese base up the New Guinea coast, was given a heavy going-over by allied aircraft on Monday. More than 60 enemy planes were destroyed, eight of them in air fights, and three tankers and four merchant ships were sunk in the harbor.

Pacific fleet headquarters made the belated announcement that U. S. marines landed Sept. 4 on Arawa island, only about 450 air miles southeast of the big new Gilbert islands air base at Makin.

Meanwhile Eighth army engineers were pushing repairs to the great airdrome at Foggia, whose capture was announced yesterday, and within a few days Flying Fortresses and Liberators were expected to be taking off from that base for stabs at southern Germany and the Balkans.

Correspondents said Foggia was taken without firing a shot, and the Nazis left so hurriedly they were able to damage the big airfield scarcely at all. Spokesman at allied headquarters agreed that capture of Foggia was the most important victory thus far in the Italian campaign.

Fifth army troops operating on the west flank were reported to have taken Salza, about 35 miles southeast of Naples.

10-Year-Old Girl Admits Purse Thefts

Twenty-two days after she had admitted stealing several purses from Marion homes, a 10-year-old girl admitted yesterday to stealing two more Monday, police reported.

Police investigated the loss of purses from two Marion homes which occurred Monday afternoon, and it appeared to them that they had been stolen in a manner similar to the method the girl had previously employed.

When questioned she admitted taking the purses from the homes, police said. Her method, she explained, was to knock on the house door and if someone answered she inquired the time of day. If, however, her knock received no response, she opened the door and proceeded to take the first purse she found. The purses were recovered.

She has been referred to juvenile court officials and it is expected she will become a ward of the court.

WHAT, NO BANANAS?

By The Associated Press

OAKLAND, Calif., Sept. 29—The last of the big fruit boats on the west coast Central and South American run went into government service today and that is why there will be fewer bananas in the nation—even green ones. There will be no shipments from the west coast by rail to the east and middle west, says C. D. Duswell, west coast manager of the United Fruit company.

Drivers' License Deadline Thursday

With the deadline for purchasing drivers' and chauffeurs' licenses just around the corner, James E. Messenger, deputy registrar of motor vehicles, announced today that around 700 licenses had been issued from his office yesterday. This brings the total number of licenses sold since Sept. 8 to 7,900, leaving approximately 1,200 yet to be purchased by drivers today and tomorrow. The office on West Church street will be open from 7 to 9 o'clock both tonight and tomorrow night. The present license expires at midnight tomorrow.

EXTENSION OF CCC ASKED BY U. S. FOOD BOSS

Higher Farm Prices in View as Jones Goes Before Congress.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29—War food administrator Marvin Jones asked congress today to extend the life of the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) and increase its borrowing power by $500,000,000 so that the government might make and fulfill guarantees to farmers of somewhat higher prices for 1944 crops.

Such guarantees would be made through subsidies to support prices.

Appearing before the house banking and currency committee, the food chief said WFA's 1944 "all out" food production program would be based upon the assumption of increased farm costs.

"In order to increase production," Jones said, "we want to be able to meet that rise (in production costs) in our farm price supports.

"In my judgment, the best way to get production is to have a definite support price that will last throughout the season. It should be high enough to cover the added risks and hazards that go with increased production. And it should be announced early.

U. S. Would Buy Surpluses

"This means," the administration said, "that the government would stand ready to buy any surplus of a commodity that might not flow into the regular channels at the time, and to absorb whatever loss may be necessary."

CCC funds would be used to support farm prices and to cover any losses which might occur. The life of CCC will expire Jan. 1 unless extended in the meantime. The requested $500,000,000 additional borrowing power would give CCC around $1,000,000,000 to finance next year's farm program. The agency already has $500,000,000 available for this purpose.

In connection with expected higher farm production costs next year, Jones pointed out the government was attempting to prevent further increases in food prices. He said:

"You, of course, are familiar with the effort to stabilize consumer prices. We are also committed to a policy of getting a larger production of food this year than last. This may make necessary some additional support prices."

Asks Change in Law

Jones also asked a change in the present Commodity Credit Corporation law which prohibits the sale of any government-owned commodity except grain for feeding at less than the parity price.

"Such a provision appears reasonable for commodities than can be stored," he said. "However, we are announcing some price supports for perishable commodities. In the case of perishable commodities, the corporation should be permitted to dispose of such commodities at less than parity where necessary to prevent waste of food."

Jones outlined his views as congress and the administration broke off a three-months armistice on food subsidies with the farm bloc rallying behind a new drive to forestall use of government money for direct price reductions.

OPTIMISM IN WAR NEWS IRKS FIGHTERS

By EUGENE BURNS
Associated Press Writer

PEARL HARBOR, Sept. 29—Greater frankness in war news presentation today will prevent cynicism and lack of confidence in our leaders later, U. S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., (R-Mass) said in an exclusive interview after war front visits where "I saw the reaction of our fighting men to habitually optimistic news reports."

He will report to congress that "our fighting men are mad because of the false optimism of our news."

"It's a general condition of our news reporting," our communiques, our radio commentators and our desk writers," he said.

He noted that censors perhaps overlook the fact that, unlike the last war, the news they censor gets back by radio within 24 hours to the men who make the news, who are wounded and who have fallen comrades.

"Our present news censorship as I saw it at the front, confuses and disillusions our fighting men in the fraternities of their local

Weather Hampers Air Raiding Over Europe

By The Associated Press

After a day and night of rending assaults on Germany's industrial cities, both the American and British bombing fleets passed a comparatively uneventful 24 hours, an almost certain sign these days that heavy weather had settled over the continent. There was no report of heavy bombers crossing the channel last night.

An allied communique said unfavorable weather also had hampered air operations over Italy. Only a few Nazi planes were sighted yesterday and one was shot down.

Veteran Australian troops had closed in within one mile of the doomed Japanese base of Finschhafen on New Guinea, and a report of its fall might be expected momentarily.

Four Million Mark Passed In County's 3rd War Loan Drive

Workers Will 'Stay on Job" To Reach as High a Figure as Possible; More E Bond Sales Needed.

Marion county today smashed over the top of its latest Third War Loan quota when a tabulation of yesterday's sales boosted the total to $4,080,706.75.

This is well above the second locally-set goal of $4,000,000 and gives Marion county nearly 145 per cent of its original $2,820,000 goal.

Drive leaders, pleased by the response, nevertheless urged workers to "stay on the job" to push the figure just as far as it will go.

As of last night the national total stood at $14,225,000,000, or within striking distance of the 15-billion-dollar national goal.

In doing this, they pointed out that in one respect Marion county is still short of the mark set for it by national and state headquarters. Part of the county's original goal, as figured in the state headquarters, was a $762,000 quota of E bonds, the ones most generally purchased by small investors. It is this part of the quota that Marion County has not yet met, Chairman R. E. White pointed out.

Now 84 Per Cent

Yesterday's sales included $30,325 in E bonds, which brought Marion county's total for that series in the Third War Loan drive to $639,297.25. This is nearly 84 per cent of the E bond quota set by the state headquarters.

Yesterday's E bonds were sold to 849 persons, and brought the total number of E bond purchasers in the campaign to 12,069. Yesterday's total sales of all series was $144,490.

E bond sales have been lagging not only in Marion county but generally, officials said after a telephone conversation with the state headquarters. The situation is shown in tabulations of state officials including sales up to last Friday night. At that time, Marion county had sold 53.6 per cent of its E bond total, but even so it ranked third in the 26-county area in the percentage of its E bond quota sold. Portage county led at that time with 59.5 per cent of its E bond quota raised, Summit was second with 55.5 per cent, Trumbull was fourth with 48.1 per cent, Lorain fifth with 46.5 per cent. Corresponding figures for other counties near Marion included Crawford, 23.5 per cent; Hardin, 35 per cent; Morrow, 31.1 per cent; Richland, 23 per cent, and Delaware, 26.4 per cent.

Time Limits Set

Developments today included the announcement that Series E, F and G bonds sold up to Oct 16 will be counted in the Third War loan drive. All orders to be counted before the deadline should be in the banks on the 15th. The selling time on four other series will expire at the end of this week. They are Series C, the ⅞ per cent certificates of indebtedness, the 2 per cent bonds and the 2½ per cent bonds. Oct. 2 will be the final date for such sales, and mail orders must be postmarked not later than Oct. 2, officials said.

The Victory House on the courthouse lawn had its biggest war bond day yesterday when corporation purchases amounting to $40,000 and individual purchases totaling more than $21,000 were handled there, giving the women volunteer workers there a $61,430.75 total for the day. This is larger than sales for some 30-day periods.

Meanwhile, news reports from national headquarters shows that

RETURN TO PRIVATE ENTERPRISE URGED

By The Associated Press

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 29—Gov. Bricker of Ohio demands the "recapture of the spirit of private enterprise" and Gov. Dwight H. Greene of Illinois insists the government "must withdraw from regulation of our economic system in the post-war world."

They spoke last night at a dinner of the supreme council, 33rd degree Masons, Ancient Accept Scottish Rite, northern Masonic jurisdiction. Bricker is a council member. Greene will receive the 33rd degree tonight.

Bricker, prominently mentioned as a possible candidate for the 1944 Republican presidential nomination, declared:

"Our government can only reflect the aims, attitudes and good judgment, ultimately, of the great bulk of its citizenship. The development of that attitude is the responsibility of the churches, homes, local communities, lodges and societies of every sort. . . ."

In the postwar rehabilitation period, he continued, "it will be necessary to recapture the spirit of private enterprise. That means a foundation of sound tax legislation to provide for venture money and private jobs in industry, business and agriculture. . . ."

Greene asserted "the main issue in America today . . . is between centralization, totalitarianism, state socialism—call it what you will—and free representative American government in which the will of the people is law under their

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 29—Schools should gear their post-war curricula to the army and navy concentrated educational programs, asserts A. C. Horrocks of Akron.

OHIO AREA CRIPPLED BY POWER FAILURE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 29 — A power failure crippled transportation and war production in six central and southeastern Ohio counties for more than an hour today.

More than 50 towns were without electricity and thousands of war plant and office workers here were unable to get to their jobs after a transformer broke down at the Pickway station of the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co., at 7:19 a. m.

Affected were Franklin county with a population of approximately half a million and towns in Pickaway, Ross, Athens, Hocking and Fairfield counties. Towns included Athens, Circleville, Nelsonville, Chillicothe and Lancaster.

In Chillicothe the United States Shoe Corp. stopped operations for a short time and the Federal reformatory, which has 1,200 inmates, was without power. Paper mills there used auxiliary power.

A few hundred residents and a handful of war plants receive power from the municipally-owned light plant, which was not affected.

Hospitals and radio stations WCOL and WBNS switched emergency power equipment and continued operations.

Officials at the Curtiss-Wright warplane plant said the change of shift had occurred before the breakdown but lack of power affected a "great deal of the production."

The Jeffrey Manufacturing Co. said the stoppage there was "total," while the Timken Roller Bearing Co. used its emergency power plant.

FALL OF CITY NOW APPEARS NEAR AT HAND

Americans Battle Through Nazi Mountain Defenses To Reach Plain.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 29—The Fifth Army has driven the Germans from their last mountain positions above Salerno and is pursuing the enemy on the plain within 15 miles of Naples, the fall of which appeared today to be imminent.

The Germans routed out of the mountain strongholds in six days of heavy fighting, were in general retreat, leaving the allies in complete possession of the Sorrento peninsula, which separates the Bay of Naples from the Gulf of Salerno.

American and British troops of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark began the final attack on the enemy's extremely strong mountain positions at dawn yesterday and by noon had captured Nocera, vital road center at the beginning of the coastal plain leading to Naples.

Castellammare, important naval base on the southern shore of the bay of Naples, also fell quickly into allied hands as the Germans withdrew in a flight that may not cease until they reach the river Ventura line, well north of Naples.

(In London, the authoritative British press association said it had learned that Fifth army forces had entered historic Pompeii at the foot of smoking Vesuvius and only 13 airline miles from the heart of Naples.)

The breakthrough on the extreme western end of the front extending across Italy from coast to coast was accompanied by a general advance on the entire Fifth and Eighth army line.

American troops on the Fifth Army's right flank smashed their way six miles northward against crumbling enemy opposition and were within seven miles of Avellino, road and rail junction which is the key to inland communications east of Naples.

Eighth Army Drives On

The capture of Avellino would constitute a threat to any German effort to make a new stand anywhere east or south of Naples.

The British Eighth army meanwhile wiped out the deep salient on its western flank, previously reported, and established a straight line between San Angelo and Maifi, while along the Adriatic Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's forces stormed northward from Margherita Di Savoia and occupied the town of Zapponetta on the gulf of Manfredonia, due east of the great Foggia air base.

British troops on the extreme southwest end of the allied front began the final shove against the enemy in the mountain line north and northwest of Salerno and encountered the bitterest kind of fighting at the town of Sala which already had changed hands many times in recent weeks of the furious struggle.

This time Clark's troops seized it for keeps and swept on triumphantly. The Germans, realizing that any further attempt to make a stand in that area was futile, began to retreat.

Reports from the front emphasized that the enemy's withdrawal was orderly and there was no suggestion that the allies were taking any large numbers of prisoners.

The Germans appeared to have realized far ahead of time that they must ultimately yield before the sledgehammer blows and accordingly made plans well in advance for a swift retreat.

Paratroopers Captured

On the Eighth army front a military spokesman reported that German parachute troops who were captured complained bitterly that their only job had been to fight a rearguard action. One said that only 17 men were left in his company as the result of recent fighting.

With the advance moving ahead from the south and east, there was adequate evidence that Field Marshal Albert Kesselring long ago decided that Naples would be indefensible once the heavy, drawn-out mountain fighting ceased.

The capture of Castellammare gives the allies a valuable shipping center and naval base capable of handling warships up to

GERMANS SEEK NEW RED LINE

Nazis Report Troops Will Continue Retreat Past Dnieper River.

By The Associated Press

The Nazis continue to fall back steadily in Russia today, and comment by Capt. Ludwig Serlorius, one of Hitler's most authoritative military spokesmen, leaves small doubt that the Germans intended to retreat on west of the Dnieper before settling behind a new defense line.

"German armies will be established on a new front which has outstanding advantages for the defenders," Serlorius said in a broadcast. He admitted the Russians were filtering across the Dnieper.

Remaining German forces in the Caucasus apparently were in full flight across the Kerch straits into the Crimea, hammered incessantly by the Soviet air fleet.

Last night's Moscow communique placed Red army troops only nine miles east of Kremenchug, one of the few remaining escape bridgeheads across the Dnieper still available to the fleeing Nazis.

Capture of Kremenchug would afford the Russians a splendid point at which to cross the Dnieper in force and flank concentrations of German troops defending Dnepropetrovsk to the south. The situation in front of Kiev remained static as the Soviets gathered their forces for the attack on that important city.

For the first time in weeks, the Germans were reported launching numerous counterattacks with strong air support in an effort to delay the advancing Russian tide, but field dispatches said Soviet artillery was pounding such attacks into heaps.

U. S. Soldiers in England Expect To Find Jobs Waiting Later

By DR. HENRY DURANT
Director, British Institute of Public Opinion.

LONDON, Sept. 29—American soldiers interviewed here in England by the British Institute of Public Opinion are highly optimistic about their chances for jobs when they return to America after the war.

The great majority think they will definite positions lined up, and even those with no job in mind or who it will not be difficult to find one.

Moreover, the weight of opinion among men is that the chances of getting job will be better under a Democratic administration in Washington than under a Republican administration.

Five hundred American privates, non-commissioned officers, and officers were interviewed on the subject of post-war jobs by the field staff of the British Institute in the area in and around London.

The first question put to them was:

"Do you have a definite job ready for you when you return after the war?"

The results are:

Yes	62%
No	27
Plan to continue schooling	3
Don't know	8

The group who said they have no definite job in mind was asked:

"Do you think it will be hard to find a job?"

The majority express optimism, as the following shows:

Yes, will be hard	24%
No, will not be hard	56
Undecided	20

Leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties in America will be particularly interested in the replies when the soldiers gave to the next question:

"Which way do you think there will be more jobs after the war—if the Republicans are in power in Washington, or if the Democrats are?"

Here is the way the replies line up:

More jobs with Republicans in power	11%
More jobs with Democrats in power	45
Makes no difference	23

Packaging Cost To Be Added To Baked Goods

Retailers of bakery products who buy these products in bulk and sell them wrapped or packaged will be allowed to add to their maximum prices the actual cost of packaging and wrapping materials, OPA officials at Columbus announced today.

The allowance will apply to all cakes, pies, sweet yeast raised products, doughnuts and pastries and will result in an increase of about one cent a package to the ultimate consumer. This allowance does not apply to producers of bakery goods who sell them wrapped or packaged.

Bucyrian Honored for War Invention

The designing and developing of a machine for use in ordnance plants brought a citation for "meritorious service beyond the call of duty" to James Truka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Truka of Bucyrus.

The machine, which was put into use in both the Elwood and Kankakee ordnance plants, enables a 50 per cent decrease in required personnel and a 70 per cent decrease in operating and maintenance costs in plants. Since it was first put into operation the designer has installed it in plants in eight other states.

Mr. Truka, who is superintendent of the booster loading line of the Elwood and Kankakee plants, has been working on the design for the last year. It was discovered that operation of the machine releases 16 critical machines for other uses.

Lt. Col. Reiff made the citation last week and awarded the certificate of merit to the young man. He is the nephew of John W. Truka of Hane avenue.

Marion Baker With Troops in Africa

A baker in civilian life, Pfc. John J. Cochran, son of Mrs. Emma Cochran of 287 North Prospect street, was one of three men chosen to be added to the mess crew of a division of the military railway service transportation corps in North Africa, a release from Allied force headquarters there revealed recently.

When the outfit with which he served moved to its bivouac area after landing in Africa there arose a problem of feeding four meals a day with three shifts of cooks and K. P.'s. This was necessary to put out a "midnight chow" for train crews and yard men.

"Pfc. Cochran claims that the best way to win friends and influence people in the Army is to feed them pies, cakes and cookies," the dispatch concluded. Entering the service Feb. 20, 1942, he has been in North Africa since May 1 this year, his family said today. In Marion he was an employe of the Marion Baking Co. of which a brother, Paul J. Cochran, was manager.

More Knitters Urged To Aid 'Bundles' Work

With the last of the Bundles for Britain and Bundles for America chapters here have shipped a large quantity of knitted articles for use by the men of the U. S. fighting forces and those of Great Britain, Miss Maud Gorham, head of the two chapters, said today. The need at present is for sweaters to make garments for future shipment and also there is a need for hats to be sent to the women of England for Christmas, she said.

The shipment included 32 pairs of socks, 43 sweaters, 43 helmets, 23 pairs of gloves, six chest protectors, one afghan, seven scarves and 27 beanies.

There is a pressing need at present for sox, sweaters, gloves and helmets for the Army, Navy and Merchant Marines, Miss Gorham said. There is on hand now a large quantity of yarn for making these articles, and what is particularly needed now is persons to knit. Information may be obtained by calling Miss Gorham at 5188 and the material may be obtained at her home, 429 South Main street. The quotas are furnished to the Marion chapters from general headquarters which receives them direct from the military services and the War Production Board.

The call for toys is for children of Great Britain as no toys have been manufactured in that country for some time. The Navy and Merchant Marine have given shipping space for transporting the gifts. The toys must be new or at least in perfect condition, practical for shipping a long distance, compact and durable. The demand for the most part is for toys for small children and games for older ones. Any one having toys to contribute is asked to take them to Miss Gorham's home before Oct. 15, deadline for the shipment.

Apartments Needed for War Workers

The center reported that nearly 150 applications for furnished apartments varying from two to five rooms are on hand. Almost daily, the center reported, one or more applications are received.

The center again urged Marion home owners who have space within their homes, which could be made available to war workers' families to phone or visit the center's office in the first room north of the Chamber of Commerce office.

A majority of the applications on hand are from war workers who have children.

NO MORE PERSONALITY THAN A ROBOT!

You can't expect a mere card in an out-of-town office file to have much of a personality. The facts are stated—"John Smith—wife and three children—7 room house—etc." but if John's check is held up by mail or if he absent-mindedly carries it around in his coat for a couple of days, the card states John Smith is too slow in payment. The account reputation will be lowered because the out-of-town office does not know John Smith personally.

U. S. Flier Sinks Three Nazi Subs in Atlantic Battles

By The Associated Press

N Sept 29—Dee German submaing of a fourth ...ioun plane flying ...carrier on Atlan... was reported by ...day

... Perry Williams, ... Wash., scored ... these undersea ... by a Grum... bomber

... submarines went to ... a total of about 65 ... men were rescued ... from the sea by destroyers. The fourth submarine left merely a ... of oil on the surface and was recorded ... as possibly damaged.

The first of the series of attacks by Williams, piloting plane ... gave him an affirmation when Paddy sighted the wake of a large submarine. The raider was strafed by a fighter ... piloted by Lieut. (JG) Earl H. Steiger, 24, Buffalo, N. Y. Then Williams roared in on his bombing run and ... bombs straddled the submarine about 25 feet forward of the conning tower. The raider was mortally wounded but the German crew raced to the guns and began firing upon the planes.

Calls for Help.

Williams had used his bomb load. He called his carrier and other planes were sent out to finish the job.

Meantime Steiger continued strafing the German U-boat. On his third attack his Wildcat fighter suddenly swerved, its nose dropped and it plunged into the water 100 feet from the U-boat. Steiger is listed as missing in action.

Two ... came from the carrier. Lieut. Comdr. Charles W. Brewer, ... Tulsa, Okla., carried on the strafing and was followed by Lieut. (JG) James F. ...oby, 23, Bode... in a bomber, who finished the job of sinking the submarine.

Approximately 35 survivors of the U-boat were seen struggling in the water and a destroyer rescued 33. One died a few minutes later. The others treated by Lieut. Rodney A. Farmer, 27, Greensburg, Pa., are prisoners.

The next morning Williams again on patrol, spotted a periscope cutting through the water about eight miles away. He sped to the attack, and dropped one bomb in close. The U-boat disappeared trailing oil. This attack was listed as involving only "possible damage."

Gets His Third.

Two days later Williams made his third attack, this one a certain kill. One bomb exploded directly beneath the German submarine. Five men were thrown clear and debris and oil spread over the sea. Two of the Germans drowned before a destroyer reached the scene. The other three are held prisoner.

A series of routine patrols followed until Williams' radio man spotted the next U-boat.

Williams dropped his bombs. The sub surfaced sharply. Black smoke trailed from its conning tower and it began to settle. Approximately 30 survivors were rescued by a destroyer that reached the scene.

Ohio to Honolulu "Slave" Ring Nabbed

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 29—The federal bureau of investigation disclosed three men and one woman were being held for arraignment here today on charges of operating a white slave route between Youngstown, O., and Honolulu.

Lee V. Boardman, Cleveland FBI chief, said 12 women had been taken from houses of prostitution in Warren, Sandusky, Niles, Dennison and Canton, O., to serve as witnesses against the four suspects.

"During the time we were in these houses," Boardman reported, "we noticed that boys between the ages of 15 to 19 were frequent customers, particularly in Dennison and Sandusky. In Dennison one of the prostitutes readily admitted that one-third of the callers were within that age limit."

The FBI agent identified the suspects as Sam Conti, 46, and George Ekovitz, 41, both of Youngstown; Baxter Lee "Sugar" Harrell Jr., 32, of Oklahoma, and Fay K. Miller, address not listed.

Billingsley Trial Nearing End Today

By The Associated Press

GREENVILLE, O., Sept. 29—The ... T. A. Billingsley, Greenville attorney and member of the state racing commission who is accused of offering a bribe in the settlement of an estate, neared an end today with the defendant's ... of the charge in the record.

R... rested yesterday he never offered a bribe to the former Probate Judge Harry E. M... to influence his decision in allowing attorney fees in the administration of the W. S. Marker estate. He further denied that such a bribe had been solicited.

Report Flier Hits 840 Clip in Power Dive

By The Associated Press

A UNITED STATES FIGHTER BASE, SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Sept. 29—Second Lieut. Robert H. Knapp of Norwich, N. Y., was believed today to have achieved a speed of approximately 840 miles per hour in a dive during an airfight over Emden, Germany, last Monday.

If true, then Knapp, pilot of a P-47 Thunderbolt fighter which helped escort Flying Fortresses in a raid on the German city, probably has flown faster than any human being ever has traveled before.

The greatest speed previously officially recorded by the pilot of a fighter plane was that of Col. Cass Hough, also of the Eighth air force fighter command, when he dove a P-47 Thunderbolt "more than 780 miles an hour," which is the speed of sound, in a test flight in England last spring.

Adjutant Adrian Steinhauser had rendered the post in past years, but who, due to physical handicaps, was unable to fill the office of commander. He moved that Mr. Steinhauser be elected commander. Reread from Everywhere

COMPARISONS of Germany's retreat from Russia to Napoleon's historic withdrawal suggest similarities that do not exist. Napoleon had been defeated in a very major engagement when he left Moscow, he still had the nucleus of his army. He was defeated on battlefields of his own choosing. He failed to do something he had to do, i.e., supply his men and the deterrent of bad weather.

Hitler's predicament is apparently worse. He has been defeated. While his supply problem seemingly is not acute, he is on his way home under the stigma of defeat. He has failed to do everything he said he would do. Unlike Napoleon, he did not reach Moscow. Unlike Napoleon, he did not carry the day on the battlefield.

Furthermore, his trouble in Russia is only a part of his predicament. Though not spectacular as yet, his troops are retreating in Italy. They have been driven out of Africa. His naval power has been checked. He has lost the only ally in a position to help him. Air power permits him no haven of safety. His enemies are in front of him, behind him and over him. His is not a retreat from Moscow, but a retreat from everywhere.

There is grave danger in global war of pointing to one spot and saying, "This is the war." Everything is the war. A destroyer released from patrol in the Atlantic is a destroyer for patrol in the Pacific. A bomber and its trained crew on a mission over southern Germany detract from German strength in the Ukraine. A German trooper in Crete is one less German trooper on the channel coast. Hitler's difficulties in Russia, however great, are part of his difficulties everywhere. The would-be master of global war is finding it a knife that cuts both ways.

Economic Diplomacy

APPOINTMENT of Edward R. Stettinius Jr. to the second highest post in the state department may be acknowledgment that economic diplomacy dominates Washington's view of international relations.

Together with the grouping of lend-lease, relief, rehabilitation and economic warfare under Leo T. Crowley as head of the new office of foreign economic administration, the Stettinius appointment as undersecretary of state signifies that the government's house is in order for dealing with the spokesmen for foreign governments with requests for assistance—the most popular topic of diplomatic discussion.

While there is no particular reason to believe men versed in management of economic problems, as Mr. Stettinius is, can not deal skillfully with whatever other problems confront diplomats, there is the possibility that economic diplomacy will have as many or more shortcomings than the other kind. The art of winning friends and influencing people on an international scale does not reside wholly in ability to bestow economic blessings.

The machinery for handling foreign affairs has been neglected; all current repairs are in order. Judgment on the outcome is perhaps better withheld until events prove the merit or lack of merit in the new arrangements.

Specifications for a Tax Bill

THE house ways and means committee is said to be shifting into high gear to get a new tax bill on President Roosevelt's desk by Jan. 1.

The date—Jan. 1—is now one of the principal specifications for a tax bill. Under withholding taxes, any tax revision that does not go into effect at the beginning of the calendar year will create unnecessary and intolerable confusion.

Another specification is simplicity. Public reaction from the needless complexities of the withholding tax has been strong. For the first time in years, it seems likely that tax experts in congress and perhaps even the muddle-minded experts who hold forth in the treasury department will make an honest effort to simplify taxes.

The other important specification is productivity, relative to effect on taxpayers. In brief, the golden egg must be obtained without killing the goose. The treasury must obtain the bulk of its additional revenue in 1944 from the places where there has been some increase in ability to pay, either through ability to reduce expenses, raise income, or both. The additional tax must be geared to reality at both ends—the taxpayer's situation at one end, the government's urgent need for money at the other.

News Behind the News

Stettinius Another in Series of Appointees To Do Practical Rather Than Political Job.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29—Mr. Roosevelt's choice of Lend-Lease Administrator Edward Stettinius, ex-ag businessman for undersecretary of state has been commonly interpreted as another surprising evidence of the President [illegible] preparation for the coming election.

It bore a strong Mr. Roosevelt, and especially State Department [illegible] preparing for a big [illegible] trade development after the war as perhaps the main engine of peace. Hull's pet policy [illegible] reciprocal trade agreements [illegible] Secretary Hull favorite. He needed and wanted a man with business experience.

Stettinius is about as close to Mr. Roosevelt as anyone in this administration. He was in charge of all lend-lease arrangements with Stalin. Some liberal groups complain that insufficient attention has been paid Russia lately. Stettinius gets along well with them without being converted to their ideology. As a business man, broadcaster and Russian friend, he fills three practical requirements. Sufficient reasons for the appointment beyond advertised political implications.

Conservative Trend

Taking the entire series of special Presidential appointments [illegible] the more conservative trend which Mr. Roosevelt established when he dropped Leon Henderson as OPA administrator. Since then, he has set up the Judicial front composed of Byrnes, Vinson and [illegible] official adviser, in charge of practically all domestic planning.

He called in the Wisconsin executive, Leo Crowley, already holding two important government posts, to manage the Wallace-Nelson Persons economic offensive and put it on a business basis without [illegible] and reforming daily-zoo. Now he has boosted Crowley a cotton nigger to control of relief and rehabilitation, since Gov. Lehman is preparing to take the biggest international role in that line. Lehman also is a New York banker.

All three appointees may be conservative as the liberals rate them, but more important, they seem to represent an effort to do a practical job here rather than a political one. To say that Mr. Roosevelt has gone conservative would be going too far. He still has all his old most intimate New Deal associates around (Hopkins, Frankfurter, Rosenman, Cohen, etc.) and, in most government agencies, you find New Dealers hidden away in key spots. To me, it seems the President has not gone anywhere politically.

Amazon Mystery

The weird activities of agents of Vice-President Wallace's former bureau of economic warfare in their search for strategic materials, are still related. Many of his men went into the Amazon jungle, inhabited chiefly by Indians with not even a sarong, or at least only in its most abbreviated form. An effort was made to induce them to gather rubber. Before the project really got under way, a government shipment of 1,500 sewing machines arrived for distribution to the Indians as an inducement to make them work. Just who sent them, or why, was not apparent to those on the ground. They were sent back. Incidentally the Indians of that area would not do the work anyway and natives had to be imported from another district.

World Police Talk

The internationalist group in the senate hears Mr. Roosevelt is still for the international police force. One of their number came back from the White House with that story. But from past statements of White House position from calling senators, even off the record, it is not safe to bet much money on this one. The caller also went to the state department. He got nothing from Hull, for or against.

Allied Sea Superiority

Combined Strength Far Exceeds That of Axis.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29—The Navy's announcement that we now have the greatest fleet in world history adds the final touch to a picture of complete United Nations' sea superiority.

Aided by the surrender of the Italian fleet and the repair of part of the French fleet, the mighty navies of the U. S. and Britain far exceed in combined strength any force Japan or Germany can hope to bring against them.

Germany, foreseeing the possibility of a blockade 1918-fashion, carefully planned so she would not be dependent on raw material sources outside Europe. She was not entirely successful, but the blockade of this war is far less crippling than last time.

Raiding Force

Germany's navy was never designed to protect her supply lines, as was Britain's. It is mainly a raiding force, the chief value of which has been the pinning down of a British fleet in the North Sea to meet its constant threat.

Japan, however, has to have a powerful fleet to protect her supply lines, support her island bases and hold on to stolen conquests.

That she is fully aware of the expansion of our fleet (which is expected to have double the number of fighting ships this year over last) is shown by the careful way she has been hoarding her battleships and carriers and by the plans to evacuate Tokyo because of the certainty of U. S. air raids (perhaps based on carriers).

New Carriers

We had 11 aircraft carriers and 15 battleships a-building when we entered the war. The Navy has not revealed how many of these mighty weapons are now in service, but we probably have at least four new carriers, the Essex, Bunker Hill, Yorktown and Lexington, out somewhere giving the Japs fits. Our total carrier force now may number nearly a dozen big ones according to some reports.

Of the big sluggers, six have been added to the fleet, including the South Dakota, Indiana, Massachusetts and Alabama, all bristling with powerful anti-aircraft defenses that can knock off Jap planes like flies.

To add to Japan's naval worries, the surrender of the Italian fleet released immense Allied sea forces in the Mediterranean, and there is little doubt that the bulk of these will be sent at once to India for the approaching seaborne invasion of Burma.

77 Italian Ships

In all, 77 Italian warships fell into our hands, including five battleships, eight cruisers, 29 destroyers, 19 submarines and one seaplane carrier. While there might be some difficulty in getting large quantities of their size ammunition, the naval base at Taranto seized by the British may have sufficient to use the warships for patrol duty.

The small French fleet must not be overlooked in listing the United Nations' naval assets.

Spearheaded by the powerful 35,000-ton battleship Richelieu (newly overhauled in the U. S.), the French fleet on our side has in fighting trim at least one other battleship, one aircraft carrier, nine cruisers, 10 destroyers and a score of subs.

Some 46 French warships came over to the Allies, after the North African invasion, but it will probably be 1944 before a French navy as such can be rebuilt and fully equipped. Undoubtedly one of the jobs being saved for the effective French naval forces is the invasion of France.

DIPLOMATIC COCKTAIL PARTY

Behind the Veil That Conceals Germany

By Edwin Shanke for Associated Press.

THE Nazis are using drastic measures to stiffen the German home front, shot through with defeatism, corruption and confusion.

This is the most significant new development inside Germany during a tense and anxious period which has seen the fall of Mussolini, Italy's capitulation and German withdrawal in Russia.

Formal placement of policing powers in the hands of Heinrich Himmler showed what a serious view Hitler and the German army took of the spreading feeling of insecurity, uncertainty and even apathy toward the war.

It was no surprise, therefore, when the Nazi press declared that Himmler's appointment as minister of interior would usher in a period of harshness marking the opening of war against the Nazi opposition.

The "Hakenkreuz" of Bannermann said:

"Himmler means a program of hardness, clearness and consistency. He is a strong powerful man. To certain small circles, Himmler's appointment will be a warning against any tendencies to overthrow the government and destroy the community. The change occurs at a moment when Germany is undergoing the hardest test, whether in former Poland, Norway, France or former Yugoslavia. Himmler doubtless means hard realism, but also fanatical idealism."

Since early September, Himmler, with Gen. Kurt Daluege as strong-arm man, has been taking energetic action. He is well prepared for the job of snuffing out potential revolts. His SS units (elite guards) are strong, well armed and ruthless. They have taken over strategically situated stores and apartments as arsenals. No German ministry is without Himmler's SS operative to keep an eye out for danger signs. There is hardly a field of governmental administration in which Himmler does not wield great influence.

PREPARING to meet Allied thrusts on all sides of its so-called European fortress, the German army, according to some reports, insisted on the appointment of Himmler for home front security.

Unconfirmed reports say Himmler has tackled such a big job he is contemplating the use of storm troops to assist his SS guards. The troopers have been receiving quasi-military training for years.

The Swedish press has compared the situation in Germany with that in Italy when Mussolini tried to save himself by appointing Carlo Scorz as "strong man," but it is recognized that Himmler is more powerful.

Propaganda Minister Goebbels has recently been publicizing Himmler's campaign against defeatists. There was a time when Nazi policy suppressed such news because it put dangerous thoughts into German minds and revealed Nazi weakness. But in the last two weeks six executions for defeatism have been prominently noted in the Nazi press.

This can mean only that defeatism has increased to such an extent that frightening examples are needed to keep the home front under control. For every execution made public there doubtless were dozens more. Firing squads went into action from Koenigsberg in the east to Metz in the west. "Enemies of the state," from government employes down to waiters, were eliminated for "trying to undermine the fighting morale on the home front."

"For traitors guilty of such crimes there is only death," the Nazi press declared.

Another form of defeatism—urging soldiers to lay down their weapons—occurred in Linz, where a retired railway official told a soldier he would not have lost his leg if he had deserted to the enemy, as he should have done. This man added that the soldier was "foolish" for not deserting. His words cost him three years in prison.

> Germany is expected to go to pieces internally while its fighting forces, held together by a strong military tradition, are still intact. This roundup of information about German morale suggests that the situation already is serious.

GERMAN newspapers reflect a general drop in morale. They are full of news of convictions for petty crimes, violations of blackout, rationing and other wartime regulations—because, under the pressure of hardships and shortages, people no longer care what happens to them. Himmler is trying to get control of that with action to remind Germans that extremely unpleasant things will happen to them if they don't behave.

Within the last few days there have appeared these examples:

A Danzig woman was executed because she took clothes from the storehouse where she worked and sold them on the black market; two bombed-out Cologners were shot to death because they took some smashed furniture from a bomb-damaged home for their new quarters, two builders were executed for profiteering on constructions of air raid shelters.

There are other stories of corruption, especially among high Nazis dealing in the black market, and of grafting in supplying special permits needed to get supplies and other considerations. Most of these go unpunished.

Heinrich Hoffman, Hitler's personal photographer, demonstrated his black market connections by producing all the needed butter, meat, ham, champagne, liquor and other rationed articles from his automobile when he popped in unexpectedly at a party. His host had been apologizing to Hoffmann because he did not have enough to eat and drink.

Beyond the physical and mental shock caused, air raids are said to be having an extremely depressing effect on morale because families are being scattered without individual members knowing how to get in touch with one another, nor even whether relatives are still alive. Evacuees have been loaded on trains without being told their destinations.

Perhaps more important is the effect on soldiers at the front who are worrying about relatives and friends. The general commandant in Hamburg formed a staff to answer the inquiries of soldiers about their relatives. Swedish newspaper accounts even reported the Germans had sharpened control of letters from the fronts to families at home and had issued a booklet on "The Art of Writing Field Post Letters" in which was emphasized the necessity for writing something cheery.

A staff chief, a Dr. Patutschnik, admitted at a Leipzig meeting of Nazi party leaders that the effects of Allied bombing raids on morale and evacuation were causing great worry.

"The solution of difficulties arising from air raids is the problem which stands at the core of all our activies," he said.

There is a steady flow of travelers' stories and other reports from Germany which can be summarized thus:

The Germans are tired of war, sickened by losses for which they blame Hitler. They want peace.

To combat war weariness Nazi party leaders are stumping the country, giving pep talks which appeal to the people to have faith in victory, to think of the grave consequences of defeat and to remember that non-Nazis will suffer the same as Nazis if Germany is defeated.

Hitler is said to have sent a circular letter to army officers declaring they were "in the same boat" with the Nazis.

The propaganda line of Dr. Goebbels has been erratic, because of need for makeshift morale builders in view of the fact there is nothing but bad news.

The paper victory at Spitzbergen and the trumpeting of Salerno as a German triumph are recent examples. Goebbels also is setting rumors afloat, mainly about Nazi secret weapons and high explosives and great long-range bombers designed to raid Washington and New York.

Food shortages, empty store shelves and deterioration of health, which tend to weaken morale, are acute.

Boom for MacArthur

"Eagle of Southwest Pacific" Might Capitalize on Romance Age in Drab Rivals in 1944.

By DAMON RUNYON

IF the war is still going on at [illegible] next year the Republicans might [illegible] Gen. Douglas MacArthur [illegible] run him the same way.

That is to say, Gen. MacArthur [illegible] would not be at the convention, and [illegible] even be in this country during the campaign. But on would be a most extraordinary situation, as you will agree, and yet one that could be all to his advantage.

A presidential candidate actually in the field against the enemy would certainly have considerable appeal to many of our people always susceptible to the dramatic. So MacArthur might even be elected "in absentia" which would put the finishing touch to the drama.

I think he stands a far better chance of being nominated if the war is still going on than if we have arrived at peace through victory, because he would give the Republicans material to offset the very powerful argument which Democrats will surely use in President Roosevelt's fourth-term behalf, about swapping horses in the middle of the stream. This is supposed to be an unwise proceeding.

Democrats will say it would be extremely foolish for this nation to switch from Roosevelt to Dewey or Willkie or Bricker in the middle of the war because they do not know the true extent and he does, but the argument would have some strength against Gen. MacArthur.

It would be most difficult to convince the average voter that MacArthur does not understand war, as that is obviously his racket. If the war in Europe is over and the war with Japan still going on, as I think will be the case, MacArthur will be all the more important to the argument, as he is considered the master mind of the conflict with the Japanese.

The Gallup poll on the Republican presidential preference in the 10 largest states revealed amazing feeling for MacArthur, indeed. I have yet to hear anyone state of their own knowledge his party affiliation, his opinion on a single political subject, or his reaction to the quiet campaign in his behalf.

He was third choice in the poll in eight of the 10 states, six of which preferred Dewey with Willkie first in three. I do not think the Gallup poll infallible in reflecting public opinion, not by a long shot, but it is a straw in the wind and in this particular case it confirms a trend toward MacArthur that I have discovered in my own conversations with Republicans.

IT is not easy to analyze this sentiment, except on the basis of his contrast in color and picturesqueness to the other potential candidates, who are a little on the drab side.

MacArthur is a popular war hero, yes. We have other war heroes. Maybe the fact that he was our first fills the public mind. I think, too, that there is great sympathy for him founded on the belief that he has not been given an altogether fair shake by Washington.

Defeats usually ruin a military figure as a political prospect, but MacArthur's defeat in the Philippines is generally excused, and rightly, on the ground that he could get no help from the outside and that his subsequent beatings of the Japs have demonstrated his ability when he has the tools to work with.

On the debit side of the "eagle of the Southwest Pacific" as a presidential possibility a divorce, supposed to be well-nigh fatal, this connection, his participation in the B. E. Mitchell court martial and the ousting of the bonus army from Washington, all of which will be recalled against him if the political going gets hot, though a lot worse things have been overlooked in presidential candidates.

Capture of Foggia Major Triumph in Mediterranean

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Capture of Foggia in southern Italy—great communications center and focal point of a baker's dozen up-to-date airdromes—represents one of the major triumphs of the Mediterranean war, for it's the key to vast new fields of allied endeavor.

Possession of Foggia will permit us to unleash a fresh tornado of bombing and fighting planes. First off, it should greatly expedite the conquest of the Italian peninsula, for it will go far toward breaking the back of German resistance there. An early development should be Nazi evacuation of the hotly contested Naples region.

But our gun-sights can be raised to much more distant horizons. From Foggia we can reach into Germany to vital centers which heretofore have been difficult to bomb. The Balkans lie open to the flying fields of Foggia—a matter of the utmost importance at this moment when the cockpit of southeastern Europe is squirming to escape Hitler's clutch.

Italy isn't the only theater to produce sensations, however, for the Russians have broached a new operation which may be a block-buster. That's up on the Leningrad end of their flaming front.

The Russians as part of their great offensive against the Nazis are beginning an operation which, it strikes me, is calculated to be the pay-off for Hitler's siege of Leningrad.

One Red force is headed northwestward along the Smolensk-Vitebsk Dvinsk railway towards the little Baltic state of Latvia, which is only 200 miles away. Other Russian contingents are pushing southwest, in a turning movement against the German line. Now if the Muscovites have the reserve strength to develop this movement, it will cut off the Hitlerites in that whole northern zone which has its apex in Leningrad.

HOUSE PEACE PLAN SHELVED BY SENATE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29—A senate foreign relations subcommittee decided today to pigeon hole the house-approved Fulbright "lasting peace" resolution and to draft its own declaration of post-war foreign policy.

Without specifically mentioning the Fulbright proposal, Chairman Connally, Democrat of Texas, announced that the subcommittee of eight, which he heads as well as the full committee, would "draft a resolution expressive of its attitude" and recommend it to the full committee.

Connally did not say when the subcommittee would act, but both he and Senator George, Democrat of Georgia, recently have said they did not think discussion of post-war policies in the senate should come at this time. Connally has indicated that action likely would be delayed until after an American-British-Russian conference in Moscow.

The Fulbright resolution, approved by an overwhelming house vote, would put congress on record as favoring American participation, through this country's constitutional processes, in "appropriate international machinery" to preserve future peace.

SERVICE CLUBS HEAR TALK BY DR. JONES

Christian Faith Called Vital Need of Democracy.

A call for a true democracy, fulfilling its purpose of "Liberty and justice for all," was voiced by Dr. E. Stanley Jones in an address to members of the Marion Rotary and Kiwanis clubs in a meeting held at Hotel Harding Tuesday noon. The talk, which followed the weekly luncheon of the two service clubs, was heard by an audience of approximately 150.

Dr. Jones, noted minister, missionary and author who is here this week as the speaker at the Marion County Christian Mission sponsored by the County Council of Churches, said that democracy is the form of government which fits in with the Christian doctrine better than all others but it must be a full expression of that doctrine to be adequately preserved.

"If we lose the Christian spirit we will go the way that all Europe went," he warned. "Christian faith is the only power that can keep democracy alive."

He reminded his audience that when the forces of Christianity failed to fulfill their mission in European countries the people turned from God to "half-gods" and that, he said, is what we must guard against.

Dr. Jones reviewed the history of American democracy and pointed to the word "All" as one that occupies a vital spot in our system of government. This he did to make clear that there must be no racial or religious discrimination, no classes denied the promised "liberty and justice for all."

Dr. Jones was introduced to his audience by Rev. E. M. Hertzler, president of the Marion County Council of Churches. Elandes E. Miller, president of the Kiwanis club, presided and a brief talk was given by Henry Krigbaum, president-elect of Kiwanis.

This was the weekly meeting day of Rotary and it was made a union meeting of Rotary and Kiwanis in honor of Dr. Jones. The Kiwanians' weekly luncheon meeting ordinarily takes place on Thursday.

ers and at home it breeds apathy," Senator Lodge said.

"Whom our rosy censorship and propaganda helps I do not know. If anything, it helps the enemy by getting us to underestimate him. Our fighting men rapidly are learning that our propaganda which makes all our allies good and all our enemies bad is bunk."

He told of seeing American soldiers befriend Italian and German prisoners but said no such camaraderie exists in the Pacific.

"Our fight with the Jap is a fight to the finish," he said.

"The Japs made it that way. They tortured our prisoners, shot down our parachutists, executed our Doolittle fliers in cold blood and our litter bearers are their favorite targets.

"These truths of the Japs should be driven home, too."

Senator Lodge asked the writer (who was a war correspondent in the Aleutians) the reaction of American soldiers to news they received while driving the Japanese from Attu. I told him an official announcement came over the radio that the enemy was defeated, except for mopping up, in the first week whereas actually the main fighting had not commenced and many of our men already had been killed.

"It's that way everywhere," Senator Lodge said.

COMPLAINT CLINICS TO SEEK TRADE ILLS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29—A nationwide complaint session has been arranged by the government to find out directly from retailers and wholesalers what if anything is interfering with the fair distribution of foods and civilian goods.

Interviews will be held by representatives of the office of civilian requirements (OCR) and the war food administration (WFA) in 20 selected cities, accessible to every merchant, between Oct. 11-30.

Merchants will be allowed 15 minutes each to tell what obstacles appear to be preventing them from getting enough goods to meet their customers' needs. If certain patterns appear consistently in the interviews, OCR and WFA will seek corrective action.

Officials suspect, for instance, that some manufacturers have not adjusted their delivery quotas among regions to match wartime population shifts, so that boom communities are getting insufficient supplies.

Merchants will be requested to write to the local WPB official in charge asking for an interview and indicating a convenient time. Written statements may supplement the 15-minute interviews.

Conferences will be held in Cincinnati, O., Oct. 18, 19 and 20.

Galion Orangemen Set Sights on Harding Football Team and Aim for Victory Friday Night

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

Since November, 1942, Galion High school's Orangemen have been storing up all the potential football energy they could and are set to unleash it full blast against Marion Harding's Presidents under the lights at Galion's Heise park Friday night.

For almost 11 months, the Orangemen have been aiming toward victory over Harding in what they think will be the "biggest game in years."

Galion football fans are calling the five days previous to the Prexy engagement as "victory week."

This tentative triumph is not only for the team supporters but to an infinite degree for the "players' buddies and friends now playing for Uncle Sam." The speaker of the quoted part of that statement was none other than James Lyngper, enthusiastic Galion head coach, who will be gunning for his first win over a Harding High grid outfit.

No Victory Since 1938

Not since 1938, when an N. C. O.-championship Galion team blasted Marion 30 to 12, have the Orange-clad pigskinners notched a victory over the Presidents.

This Galion-Harding game indeed will be one of the season's top-flight scholastic grid battles in this section of the state and possibly the contest that will decide the ultimate wearer of the 1943 N. C. O. football crown.

The Galion boys really have been going all out for a successful '43 season and above all a triumph over the Prexies. According to Galion fans, many of the Orangemen underwent special physical exercises to be in the best possible trim for the Harding clash.

Coach Lymper is especially outspoken about the mental and physical keeness which is hoped by Galion fans to bring their high school a win Friday night.

Lymper cautioned Harding players, "Our first two opponents were not Tiffin and Crestline but in effect, Marion. Those long, hard blocks teeth rattling tackles were practice for the true foe."

Quicker Drill Tempo

Don't, however, think that Coaches Vic Dorris and Joe Petrich and their Harding grid charges are taking the Galion game in exactly the opposite

Skibos Insist On Grid Team

Carnegie Tech To Play After Student Demand; Marion Boy End Candidate.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 29—Carnegie Tech, which once had to recruit players for its power elevens, is having a football team this fall because the players themselves recruited one.

Otherwise, the Skibos likely would have been on the shelf for the duration, too. They were left without a single coach when Eddie Baker joined the Navy and his two assistants, Joe Skladany and Al Irwin, took jobs in war plants. As late as September a coach still hadn't been hired and the matter of securing a schedule of games was like beating Pitt.

"But there were a lot of kids on the campus who wanted a team and let us know about it in no uncertain way," said Max Hannum, who acts as chief deputy to Athletic Director Clarence (Buddy) Overend. "That's the big reason why we're having one.

"The size of the squad certainly shows that student interest," Max continued. "We've had 45 boys out for the team and sometimes as many as 50. That's the biggest squad we've had since Bill Kern was coach here."

Accompanying student interest in a team was the disclosure that Skladany, one-time Pitt end under Jock Sutherland, would be able to coach it if Tech's practices were moved up, say, to around 6 or 7 o'clock. This was arranged.

The bulk of the squad consists of freshmen and many upper classmen who have never been out for football before.

"We may have a fair first team with few replacements," said Skladany. "The team also will be light, averaging only 165 pounds."

The mid-section of the line will be formidable enough. Skladany has four lettermen there, including John Lindberg of Lima, O., and Clift Mikus of Crafton, Pa., at tackles, and Ben Baklarz of Braddock, Pa., and Dave Crump of Bridgeville, Pa., at guards. Lindberg, at 200 pounds, is the only really heavy boy on the squad.

Other promising candidates include Tom Hurst of Marion, O., end.

Tech will play only five games this year, all in October. The card: Oct. 2, at Rochester; 9, at Case; 16, Lehigh; 23, at West Virginia; 30, Pitt.

ARMY REJECTS DIZZY DEAN

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS SEEKING VICTORY TONIGHT TO SNARE PLAYOFF

Birds Beat Indians Second Time at Indianapolis: Move Home.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 29 — A battle of southpaws was in prospect tonight as the Columbus Red Birds came home to shoot for their third straight American Association playoff championship.

The Birds beat Indianapolis, 3 to 0, in the Hoosier capital last night for their second consecutive win in the best three-of-five games final playoff series. The Indians lost Monday night 9 to 3, and now need three straight victories over Columbus to eliminate the Red Birds. A win tonight for Columbus would give the Birds the championship and entrance into the Little World Series against Syracuse, winner of the International league playoff battle.

Southpaw George Dockins was slated to pitch for Columbus while Manager Donie Bush picked his ace, Jim Trexler, to hurl for the Indians, although he had only two days rest.

The difference between good pitching and excellent pitching was demonstrated last night by Johnny Hutchings for the Indians and Preacher Roe for Columbus. Roe's four-hit performance won him his second shutout of the playoff games. Hutchings permitted seven blows.

Reds Start Hot Streak Too Late for First, but Snare Second Place

By The Associated Press

Before they shed their uniforms for the winter the St. Louis Cardinals may have reason to be glad they clinched the National league pennant before the Cincinnati Reds became properly organized.

The Reds mathematically nailed second place yesterday by sweeping a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies and running their latest winning streak to nine games.

The Reds have had a couple of six game streaks earlier, but it took the late days of September for them to get really hot. They whipped the Phillies 4-3 and 2-0 with two seven-hit pitching performances by Ray Starr and Joe Beggs.

The Brooklyn Dodgers dropped a doubleheader to the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 and 4-2 and fell into fourth place as the Buccaneers took over third. The Pirates were held to six hits in each game, but bunched five of them for three runs in the sixth inning of the opener and fitted them together at timely intervals in the second session also.

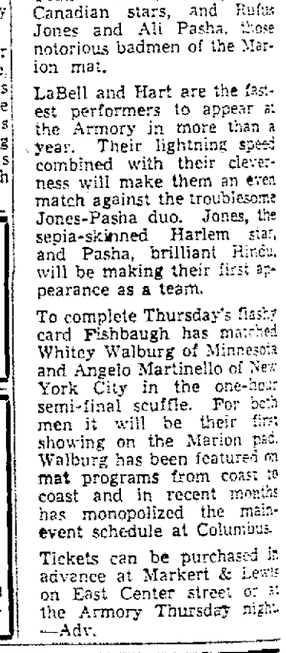
In the meantime the Cardinals split a doubleheader with the Boston Braves. Mort Cooper, the Cardinals' ace pitcher, started the first game and was relieved in the sixth inning by Lefty Harry Brecheen with the Braves ahead 4-3. Boston went on to win in the 13th 6-5 and the fact that another southpaw, Max Lanier, stopped the Braves in the second game 7-1 on six-hit hurling in the nightcap did little to camouflage Cooper's unsuccessful effort in the first game.

The Chicago Cubs took two games from New York, definitely interring the Giants in the cellar, 3-2 in ten innings and [illegible] single by rookie Eddie [illegible] the bases loaded in the [illegible] the veteran Paul Derringer [illegible] 200th victory of his [illegible] career in the opener and a [illegible] run rally in the ninth [illegible] second session for Lon [illegible] after Hugh East had [illegible] hit shutout ball for eight [illegible]

The New York Yankees [illegible] seaten 11-3 in their final [illegible] with the Cleveland Indians [illegible] all the score meant was that Marvin Breuer would get a shot [illegible] during the world series.

Manager Joe McCarthy [illegible] Breuer his first starting assignment of the season and then [illegible] the stands to see what he [illegible] to his sore-armed right-hander. What he saw was Breuer [illegible] up nine hits in less than six frames, allowing a five-run rally in the fourth and letting another five-run flurry start in the fifth.

The Boston Red Sox trounced the Detroit Tigers 6-1 and the Philadelphia Athletics won [illegible] on the St. Louis Browns [illegible] rookie Lou Ciola scattering [illegible] hits.



ANOTHER TAG TEAM

Another thrilling tag team match is in store for Marion wrestling fans at the Armory arena Thursday night.

For this week's event Promoter Les Fishbaugh has booked Rene LaBell and Frankie Hart, the popular Canadian stars, and Rufus Jones and Ali Pasha, those notorious badmen of the Marion mat.

LaBell and Hart are the fastest performers to appear at the Armory in more than a year. Their lightning speed combined with their cleverness will make them an even match against the troublesome Jones-Pasha duo. Jones, the sepia-skinned Harlem star, and Pasha, brilliant Hindu, will be making their first appearance as a team.

To complete Thursday's flashy card Fishbaugh has matched Whitey Walburg of Minnesota and Angelo Martinello of New York City in the one-hour semi-final scuffle. For both men it will be their first showing on the Marion pad. Walburg has been featured on mat programs from coast to coast and in recent months has monopolized the main-event schedule at Columbus.

Tickets can be purchased in advance at Markert & Lewis on East Center street or at the Armory Thursday night. —Adv.

Entry of Coach Dorris Into Military Service Likely Soon

Possibility that Victor Dorris, coach of the Harding High school football Presidents, may be called into service before the end of the recently-launched grid season was revealed here today.

Dorris said today that he was notified by his selective service board at Granville, where he coached before coming to Marion, that he was scheduled to be reclassified as a potential in 1-A this Friday. He is married and has two children.

However, Dorris has applied for a commission in the U. S. Navy and if the commission is granted he probably would not be called to active service until sometime after the close of the football year.

He originally applied for a commission in the Navy's physical training division but found that no more commisisons were available in this phase of the Navy program.

Considered a possible successor if Dorris is called to service, either by the Army or Navy, is Joe Petrich, assistant to the Harding head coach. Petrich was elevated to the assistant coaching job a year ago after serving as coach of the Edison Junior High school team.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

In three short words people strike the spark of comradeship. From the family fireside to far-flung fronts, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes—has become a symbol of those who see things in a friendly light.

Bazooka Plays Tank Dirge

The Bazooka, recent addition to American arsenal, is an anti-tank weapon that can be carried by soldiers on foot because of its small size. Usable in places which would be inaccessible to larger anti-tank weapons, the Army's new rocket gun is officially listed as "Launcher, Rocket, AT, M-1." Above, a soldier demonstrates the proper way to hold the Bazooka, and the projectile it fires is shown at the right.

Hunt for Missing Boy Shifts to Youngstown

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, Sept. 29 — Search for seven-year-old Lewis Davis, who has been missing from his home in Warren since Sunday, turned to Youngstown today when Mrs. Grant Wilson, a housewife, said she thought she saw the boy in an automobile yesterday.

Mrs. Wilson said a stranger arrived at her home yesterday and wanted to know if Wilson, employed in a local plant which makes airplane parts, would make a model plane for his boy who was out in the car.

Mrs. Wilson said she didn't think her husband would want to do this.

Mrs. Wilson accompanied the man to the door and said she saw the boy sitting in the car with another man. The boy apparently had been weeping and the second man pulled the boy onto his lap as though restraining him, Mrs. Wilson told police.

The Davis boy disappeared Sunday shortly after he left home to play.

THIRD MISSION SERVICE HELD

Dr. E. Stanley Jones Speaks at Calvary Church on "What Christ Means to Me."

"What Christ Means to Me" was the subject of Dr. E. Stanley Jones in the third service of the Marion County Christian mission in Calvary Evangelical church Tuesday night.

Rev. Paul Turner of Chicago opened the meeting with a song service and the Men's chorus of First United Brethren church under the direction of B. K. Hill sang an offertory anthem. Prayer was offered by Rev. E. H. Wierth of First Evangelical and Reformed church.

Dr. Jones began his address by asking the question "Will Christ go down in the ruin of things today? Can we still give everything we have to Christ?" He stated that the world would be a madhouse without God. "God sent His Son Christ into the world as a revelation of God," he said.

In outline form, he gave the following things that we can believe about Christ:

1. That he was a historical Jesus. We can believe in the Christ of the New Testament. We can believe in Him as a man.

2. Jesus was a man with a message—He brought the message of a new order—the Kingdom of God.

3. Christ taught of a Kingdom of God and identified Himself with the New Order. He was an individual embodying a cause.

At the close of the service Dr. Jones gave five points to show how "Christ can mean everything to people." He quoted "If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself take up his cross and follow Me," from the Bible. He gave these steps as important: 1. making up one's mind, 2. giving up one's self, 3. taking up a cross, 4. keeping up one's contacts with God through daily prayer, 5. gathering up one's loyalties to Christ."

He closed his message with the Scripture verse, "I can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth me."

WAR BONDS
The Priest

Soldiers call this 105-millimeter self-propelled howitzer, "the priest," because of its high protective machine gun pulpit. It makes the Nazi tankmen pay and pray. It has been superseded by the M-10, but the M-7 still has a definite place in attacking troops under certain conditions.

We too, have a definite place in the war. Right now it is to "Back the Attack," through increased purchase of War Bonds.

Our tanks in Europe and Asia each have a definite job, just like the folks on the home front. Just now our big job is to make the Third War Loan a success through the purchase of War Bonds.

OPPOSES PROPOSED DEPENDENCY PLAN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29—Introducing legislation to boost government payments to dependents of enlisted service men, the war and navy departments today opposed suggestions that wives be required to prove dependency before receiving aid.

Speaking for the two departments, Maj. Gen. Miller G. White, assistant army chief of staff in charge of personnel, told the house military committee he was in general accord with a bill passed by the senate to increase the allowances and make them available to dependents of all enlisted men.

"The dependency allowances are a part of the pay" of a soldier, General White said, in opposing a suggestion by Rep. Thomason (D-Tex) that the government exempt financially independent wives.

He supported a provision to speed up the payments by requiring that the government pay the entire first monthly allowance without any deduction from the enlisted man's pay. Under this, White told the committee, first payments could be sent out in not more than 15 days after a man leaves home.

frame of mind of the Orangemen and their mentors. Practices this week at Harding stadium have been long, in fact as long and tough as any of the last several campaigns.

Under the direction of Petrich, the Hardingites were put through their paces until 6:45 Monday night, repeating time and again execution of the game fundamentals.

There also was a scrimmage for the Presidents both Monday night and last. Harding fans, especially those who saw the heart-beat-expediter against Columbus West Friday night, will agree that Dorrismen need practice and plenty of it.

One thing is certain, the Prexies cannot afford a further letdown in spirit that was so apparent against the Capital City gridders.

LIST FAILS TO MAKE HEADWAY

Only Few Leaders Able To Attract Attention in To-day's Session.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Sept. 29—Stocks failed to work into a definite trend today although a small group of issues attracted mod-erately higher bids.
The pattern of irregular and generally small price swings car-ried over from yesterday with volume remaining at low figures. The quiescent attitude of specula-tive forces was in no wise changed by reports of further brilliant military successes in Italy and Russia, but Wall Street analysts pointed out that the market for last week or more had been unre-sponsive to good war news.
Ahead a good part of the time were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Good-year, Goodrich, Air Reduction, Western Union, and N. Y. Cen-tral. Certain-teed products pre-ferred pushed up more than 3 points on a brief run of buying.
Merchandising shares dipped at intervals along with United Air-craft Westinghouse, and Phelps Dodge.
Some light on the constantly changing war production picture was supplied by A. W. Robertson, chairman of Westinghouse Elec-tric, who disclosed that the gov-ernment cancelled around $141,-000,000 of Westinghouse contracts in the first eight months of the year. But despite this the com-pany has a backlog of unfilled orders exceeding $900,000,000 be-cause new business has been run-ning ahead of shipments.

WHEAT PRICES GAIN AS DEMAND HOLDS

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, Sept. 29—Demand for wheat continued strong today and prices advanced into new high ground since early July, al-though profit-taking limited gains to about a cent. A prominent ele-vator concern was on the buying side and some purchases repre-sented the closing out of spreads between this market and Winni-peg.
Commission houses made siza-ble purchases of rye, gains in that grain extending to more than a cent. Oats were weak early on profit-taking, but recovered some lost ground before the close. A pick-up in corn marketings was reported, bookings totaling more than 8,000 bushels prior to the close.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

THERE was such stern, unswerving determination in Harry Winters' face as he strode to the door that my father and I accepted his ultimatum without further protest. But Dicky followed him out, pausing only for a hasty parting word to my father after he had been shown and given my address message in a tender kiss.

"I take it, sir, you do not need me for awhile," he said. "You will have plenty of guards at Hal Meredith's office to protect Madge, and carry out your plan to remove Ruth Hayes from the composite picture. I know you agree with me that my presence would only infuriate the lady needlessly."

Spencer Agrees

"Yes," my father agreed a bit grimly. "I think you very well may not be on your laurels of the early hours of this morning. We shall not need you, and I will take good care of Margaret. Also,—do all you can in that direction."

His voice almost inaudible, he gestured toward Harry's retreating figure.

"Everything I can, but don't count on it," Dicky murmured in reply, and then the door closed behind him, and my father and I were left facing each other.

"So he's really going?" I said dully. "Whatever will I say to Lillian?"

"I know," my father said, with sympathy vibrant in his voice. "It's going to be hard for you,—terrible for Lillian. "But I shall put off the evil day as far as possible. Because of this new decision of Harry's, I shall not send for Lillian for another two days. It is outside the bounds of possibility that the conspirators will bring Marion again to that restaurant before that time."

Madge Relieved

I caught my breath in relief at the respite, for I knew that next to facing a terrible emergency for my children, for Dicky or for my father, I dreaded having to tell Lillian that Harry had at last gone to meet unknown and sinister danger in order to aid her idolized daughter, who was as dear to him as if she were his own child instead of his stepdaughter.

And now," my father said briskly, "we will forget this angle of our problem for a while, and concentrate on the thing directly in front of us. You are all ready to start for Hal Meredith's office?"

"Just give me time to put on my hat and coat," I answered smiling.

"I'll do that," he said, "for I have to leave a few last-minute instructions with Winters who will come into this suite and stay here while we are gone, ready to answer all telephones discreetly, and in code, if necessary. Thus, he will be able to keep track of the machinery I have set in motion for the restaurant campaign. I also have to start Adams on his way to Hal's office. Three husky lads are waiting for him down the street, and they will go in the rear entrance of Meredith's apartment and wait there until I call, with time to bring them out, if necessary."

Four Men Needed

"If necessary," I repeated incredulously. "You mean you will need four men to murder Ruth Hayes?"

"If," my father said soberly, "she brings with her or has within her call, the two gangsters who came with her to the hotel in the early hours of this morning, four may well be needed. Because we will wish to do a thorough job without undue publicity."

There was something in his voice, quiet, menacing, which told me that if everything went as my father evidently and planned it, the elimination of the "soulless woman from Katharine's life, and the total destruction of any evidence she was giving the conspirators pertaining to Jack Bickett and the cryptograms, would be complete before the afternoon should wane.

"I'll be back in a minute," he said, and went through the camouflaged door into the communicating suite, while I hurriedly donned my hat and coat, pulled on my gloves, and caught up my bag. When he returned, with Winters close behind him, I was already at the outer door.

Father Approves

He gave me a nod of approval, and then crossed to me, his hat and gloves in his hand, turning at the door for a last word with Winters.

"You know what to do," he said. "And if Milner should come here, tell him I asked you to stay in this suite until our return, but you do not know why."

"Okay," Winters said. "I'll attend to everything."

"He's what Richard would term a 'stout fellah,'" my father said when he had closed the door. "And now, we only have one problem."

I looked the inquiry I did not wish to voice, and he answered my look.

"That is to get to Meredith's office before Ruth Hayes shows up there," he said.

The Stars Say—

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, Sept. 30

INITIATIVE, enterprise, push and concentrated marshalling of the forces and faculties should move affairs, both business and private into the realm of a "new high" in the way of achievement and endurance, stability of resources and opportunity, for reaching cherished goals. This bold and clever effort toward important objectives, probably in new fields of endeavor, must be sustained by clear thinking, sound, constructive ability, and progressive ideals. Similar conditions apply to the social, affectional and emotional life and its successful and happy fruitions.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the the threshold of a year of splendid opportunity for doing large things in a "big way," with enterprise, initiative and the creative forces and mental faculties all under high stimuli for outstanding productiveness and progress. Especially are new and bold ventures encouraged, with practical ways and means at hand, although possibly menaced by some sort of sordid or treacherous temptations. Keen insight, aggressiveness and straightforwardness win, in the end. Financial, domestic and romantic affiliations should also be pushed to gratifying objectives, although with restraint.

A child born on this day may be aggressive, energetic, have much constructive ability, assuring decisive success, although it may be subject to erratic emotional urges or some form of excess or extravagance with funds or energies.

Remedies for Acne

"PIMPLES" is what the teasing brother calls it. The victim prefers the more dignified term, "acne," although its full scientific name is not only more impressive than "pimples"—"acne vulgaris," the vulgar acne, or the common acne.

Common it is. An estimate puts the number of adolescent boys or girls who have some form of it at 70 per cent—including greasy skin and blackheads. A severe case is torture for the owner. An old man can stand an acne rosacea—red bulbous nose and all—but for a kid just starting the pompous path to have the face covered with pimples, that is manifestly unfair.

It must seem to such a victim that it should be very easy to cure. All you have to do is get rid of the pimples and keep the grease off the skin and express the blackheads. But as experience teaches in the severe cases, this is by no means easy.

Treatments Suggested

The treatments that have been suggested are: (1) local treatment of the skin—degreasing and antiseptic lotions, (2) endocrine preparations, (3) vitamins and liver extract, (4) X-ray, (5) vaccines and (6) diet.

The reason for using any of these is fairly obvious. It is a condition confined to one locality of the skin, therefore local treatment is indicated. It occurs at puberty when all the endocrines should be in a father of activity, but some of them may fall behind; therefore supplement them. It is a sluggish infection, therefore vaccines can be used to stimulate it. The X-ray kills infection.

The rationale for vitamins and diet is a little different. Cases are improved sometimes by the use of ultra-violet light. Since ultra-violet activates ergosterol in the skin and ergosterol is a provitamin, the treatment is equivalent to the administration of vitamin D. Improvement has been reported by several dermatologists on this treatment.

Hence dirt the old restrictions used to be on cutting down of the carbohydrates — candy-forbidden regime. This, however, has proved quite valueless. Some patients were hospitalized and given high fatty diets and improved. More reasonable is a low fat diet. There is unquestionably in all cases some disturbance of the fat metabolism of the skin. The foods forbidden in Sutton's diet are:

All fried foods, cream, ice cream, butter, butter substitutes, cheese (except cottage cheese), milk, lard, other cooking fat, yolk of egg, smothered foods (pie crust, biscuits, crackers, etc.) sausage, Spanish mackerel, shad, salmon, sardines, nuts, potato chips, chocolate, cocoa, nuts, peanut butter, salmon, cod-liver oil, cream soup, gravy, pork, bacon, ham, catfish, smoked herring, canned fish, tuna, mutton.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

W. R.: What is the cause of Bursitis? What treatment do you advise?

Answer: Bursitis is the inflammation of a bursa, the lubricating sac around a joint. It may be any joint, but commonly the shoulder, knee, elbow or ankle. Heat and time will relieve nearly all cases.

B. P.: Does a pain in the chest always mean angina pectoris? If not, what are some other reasons that will bring about this condition? Will constant worry about one's self and neurasthenia bring on this condition?

Answer: I should say that pain in the chest is something else many times more often than it is angina pectoris. Worry, nervous conditions, hearing about someone else who had angina, tobacco, exertion, pericarditis, slipping rib, pleurisy, are all among the causes.
